

SuperTech's Connector Series – Rules of engagement

- 1. Both parties commit to attend with sufficiently senior and empowered representatives for a meaningful exchange.
- 2. SuperTech facilitates the arrangement of the conversations to take place but is not responsible for the vetting of firms and/or attendees. Once confirmed, details will be shared in advance and both parties agree to the 'booking'.
- 3. Sessions are for two-way conversations and knowledge exchange. They are not to be used as a pitch or sales event opportunity.
- 4. Exchange of contact details is by agreement of the attending parties and can be done through the session directly or by SuperTech post event.
- 5. Parties agree to share feedback on the quality of engagement with SuperTech, but not the exact content of the conversation, which is conducted under the Chatham House Rule inside the breakout sessions.
